1. Uplevel each one

2. Then write them into your own sentence to describe this image.

The first one has been done for you.

3. Finally, put it all together, adding extra details to make an effective setting description.

Here's an example of what a good one could look like – yours may be different!

The shiny water -> the glimmering water -> the glimmering water hugged the boat tightly, locking it into place.

The old boat -> the rusty boat -> The rusty boat lay neglected in the barren, deserted land

Broken off ruins -> Crumbling ruins -> Crumbling ruins dotted the bay, leaving a trail of the forgotten boat.

The blue sea -> The emerald sea -> The emerald sea shimmered in the dazzling sunlight.

Grains of brown sand -> Grains of golden sand -> Grains of golden sand watched as the ship crumbled into nothing.

High rocks -> Steep rocks -> Steep rocks towered over the sad sight, protecting the land.

Clear sky -> Cloudless sky -> The cloudless sky covered the scene, bringing no shade from the burning sun.
