

Thursday 23rd April 2020

Poetry!

Your task today is to write a poem about an event or season that is important to you! With Ramadan starting, you could write about Ramadan like this one (link!!). You might choose to write about Easter. Or maybe you just love the summer or spring!

Poetry style:

Poems can come in many different styles and there are loads and loads of different types of poem.

We want you to rhyme every other line like this:

*Finally the sun has come out
The rain falling down is no more
It's getting much warmer without a doubt
And through the air seagulls will soar.*

Your poem should have at least 6 verses (like paragraphs!)