Silent W

Rule: The silent w often comes before 'h' or 'r' in some words. One way to decide if you need a w before an r is to think does the word refer to twisting or distorting for example: wrap is twisting paper, and writing is twisting letter shapes. This rule may help but is tricky!

Words to copy – Remember to repeat each word right across the line in neatest handwriting!

★ Can you work out the words shown by these pictures and use the 'wr' rule to spell them correctly?
