

Thursday

Can you write a story with a problem and solution using your character?

Make sure you watch the video fully to know how to write the story using your character descriptions and setting descriptions from earlier in the week.

Example:

Problem: The watering hole has dried up!

Solution: The lion is going to send the elephants to get water and bring it back in their trunks.

One sunny day there was a majestic lion strolling through the grassy plains in the African Savannah. He had a thick tawny mane that floated in the wind and claws as sharp as knives. When he looked around he saw tall, scattered acacias trees towering above the animals. Below there were arid plants withering slowly. All of a sudden, he noticed the muddy watering hole had disappeared! The earth where it normally was, was dry and cracked. What were they going to do? As quick as a flash, the clever lion had an idea. He prowled over to the enormous elephants with his fierce fanged teeth and ordered "Go up stream now and find water. Then bring it back in your trunks." Immediately, the gentle elephants set off as they were told. A few hours later, they returned and filled the watering hole with their long dexterous trunks. "Hooray" shouted the animals joyfully.

Time adverbials you can use:

All of a sudden/Suddenly

In the blink of an eye,

As quick as a flash,

Then, Next, After,

Immediately,

A few hours later,

In the end,

Challenge:

Can you use speech in your story?
Remember your speech marks around
what the character says

For example "Hooray"

