

Tuesday – Verbs

A verb is an action word. It tells you what the noun is doing.
Verbs can be in the present tense – they are happening right now.
Or verbs can be in the past tense – they have already happened.
Most past tense verbs end in –ed.

1. Can you change the verbs from present tense to past tense?

Today the lion roars.

Yesterday the lion _____.

Today there is a huge bear that lives in the cave.

Last week there _____ a huge bear that _____ in the cave.

2. Can you change the verbs from past tense to present tense?

Right now my sister _____ her ice-cream.

Yesterday my sister liked her ice cream.

Today there _____ two birds in the garden.

Yesterday there were two birds in the garden.

3. Can you change these verbs into the past?

Present – Today...			Past – Yesterday...
jump	start	go	jumped
catch	eat	wait
shout	grow	bring
work	sit	think

4. Can you write 2 sentences in the present tense and 2 sentences in the past tense?

Present tense: Right now I

Past tense: Yesterday I