

Tuesday 30th June – English

1. Match the beginning of the following clauses with the correct ending clause to create a sentence. Write the sentences in your book.

Beginning Clause

Ending Clause

The aliens went on an eventful mission, zooming through space.

Back on Earth, the scientists had such a terrible fright.

The police and fire engines came racing

but there was little they could do.

The people gasped in surprise

as the aliens vanished into the sky.

Back home the aliens all cheered because they had saved the Earth.

2. Below are some simple sentences, add a clause at the end of each one to extend the sentences.

- The aliens jumped into their spaceships because planet Earth was under attack.
- Their spaceships were travelling very fast and their warning lights came on.
- Suddenly, the aliens landed back on Earth where the people were in a panic.
- They sneaked inside people's houses so that they could steal some underpants.
- The aliens made huge underpants to help them save the day.

Can you add some adjectives and adverbs to make the sentences more interesting?

3. Below are some simple sentences, extend the sentences by adding a clause to the beginning of each one.

- Minutes after the fire started, the police and rescue team came racing.
- The aliens turned back to Earth because the scientists noticed something odd on their satellite.
- Before all the houses burnt to the ground, the aliens rushed to get their pants supply.
- After they made huge underpants, the aliens sent the meteor back into space.
- In order to stop the panic from spreading, the aliens used pants to help save the universe.

Can you replace the verbs in the sentences with your own verbs and add adverbs to make them more interesting?

Here are some pictures. Choose a picture and write your own extended sentences to describe what is happening in the picture.
